

Project Based Learning Institute with the Buck Institute for Education

February 25-27, 2019

Too many students - especially those furthest from opportunity - are unprepared for the modern economy and the challenges of the 21st century. Project Based Learning prepares students for academic, personal, and career success, and readies young people to rise to the challenges of their lives and the world they will inherit.

Join the Buck Institute for Education as they facilitate this 3-day workshop providing teachers the knowledge and skills needed to design, assess, and manage a rigorous standards-based project. Participants will actively engage in project design and generate a project plan for their own use. Come and experience a blend of direct instruction, video analysis, hands-on work, resource sharing, and peer collaboration and feedback.

This course is based on Buck Institute's for Education model of Gold Standard PBL and facilitated by a BIE expert national faculty.
